DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-17 are pending as amended by preliminary amendment on 1/13/05

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election with traverse of the process claims (group I), claims 1-12, out of which claims 1-7 in response to the species election requirement, in the reply filed on 3/3/08 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that claim 1 has novel subject matter over the cited reference, and that when claim 1 is allowable, other claims including the product and use claims would become allowable.

This is not found persuasive because applicant has not shown how claim 1 would be allowable over the cited reference. In addition, the product claims depending from the process claims do not automatically become allowable when the process claims become allowable: “[E]ven though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process.” In re Thorpe, 777 F.2d 695, 698, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985).

Accordingly, Claims 1-7 are elected for examination on merits. Claims 8-17 are withdrawn from consideration.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

1. Claims 1,4,6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Murray (US 2003/0113234).

Murray teaches a method of making a substrate selective membrane by polymerizing a mixture comprising a template (iron vinyl benzoate complex), a functional monomer (eg. styrene), a crosslinker (eg. divinyl benzene), a pore former (eg. polyester), a plasticizer (nitrophenyl octyl ether: see working examples), and initiator - see paragraph 0016. After the membrane is formed, the ferric cation and the polyester are removed to form for the pores.

2. Claims 2 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Murray.

These claims differ from the teaching of Murray in that Murray does not appear to specify a porosity and the pore sizes. However, since the membrane in the reference is made the same way as in the claims, the pore sizes and porosity would be inherently the same. Where applicant claims a composition in terms of a function, property or characteristic and the composition of the prior art is the same as that of the claim but the function is not explicitly disclosed by the reference, the examiner may make a rejection under both 35 U.S.C. 102 and 103, expressed as a 102/103 rejection. "There is nothing inconsistent in concurrent rejections for obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103 and for anticipation under 35 U.S.C. 102.” In re Best, 562 F.2d 1252, 1255 n.4, 195 USPQ 430, 433 n.4 (CCPA 1977). This same rationale should also apply to product, apparatus, and process claims claimed in terms of function, property or characteristic. Therefore, a 35 U.S.C. 102/103 rejection is appropriate for these types of claims as well as for composition claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Murray.

Claim 5 differs from the teaching of the reference in the specific plasticizer: the reference uses nitrophenyl octyl ether as plasticizer. However, since the plasticizer is chosen for the specific function of plasticizing the membrane, the plasticizer used in the reference would be an obvious equivalent, unless applicant can show otherwise.
